(Huntington Beach, CA, January 28, 2021) Putting the “squeeze” on dirty dishes, California Faucets has added the new Squeeze Handle Sprayer to their acclaimed Kitchen Collection. Both ergonomic and visually captivating, the easy-to-use lever activates a powerful spray function to tackle dirty dishes in no time. Simply squeeze the lever to unleash the vigorous spray function and release it to return to an aerated stream. The addition of the new squeeze lever practically doubles the already vast array of pull-down faucet choices. The variety of available styles, combined with a selection of more than 28 artisan finishes, gives at-home chefs all the ingredients they need to whip up a delicious design statement for the kitchen sink.

Going beyond the company’s signature solid brass construction, the design team engineered an insulated sprayhead to ensure it’s never too hot to the touch, even with scalding water. “Plus, unlike most pull-down faucets on the market, our proprietary sprayhead docking system stays firmly in place, eliminating the common dangling issues we see with a lot of faucets," says Noah Taft, California Faucets Chief Marketing Officer. The sprayhead also features easy-to-clean spray jets that withstand mineral build-up. "This faucet is guaranteed to be your new main squeeze," Taft quips with a smile.

The solid brass Squeeze Handle Sprayer is available for most pull-down faucet styles including prep/bar faucets and culinary style faucets. With the variety of available styles, including the classic Davoli, contemporary Corsano and Poetto, sleek and modern Culinary series, plus the Descanso series, with its striking nod to industrial design, designers and homeowners alike can create virtually any look they desire. A choice of 28 artisan finishes, including 14 PVD (Physical Vapor Deposition) finishes with a lifetime warranty against tarnishing, and a full suite of matching accessories, allows for the ultimate in personalization.

Pricing starts at $1,245 for the Corsano Series Pull-Down Prep/Bar Faucet with Squeeze Handle Sprayer in Polished Chrome.
