California Faucets Elevates Luxury Baths with Split-Finish Faucets

Distinctive dual-tone faucets bring fresh dimension to the bath through contrast, craftsmanship and customization

(Huntington Beach, CA, March 31, 2026) In the most thoughtfully designed baths, it's the details that define the experience. California Faucets brings that philosophy to the forefront with its split-finish faucets—where two complementary tones unite within a single silhouette to create depth, dimension, and unmistakable presence. Entering the luxury market at the ideal time to capture a growing appetite for customization, split finishes are becoming a go-to choice for adding depth and character. More than a fixture, a split-finish faucet becomes a study in contrast and craftsmanship, setting the tone for a truly customized bath design. The faucet becomes both a designer focal point and a unifying element within the bath.

Blending materials in unexpected ways is the new language of design. Combining stone, tile, wood and metal allows designers and homeowners alike to create spaces that speak with layered personality and bold contrast. But sometimes achieving cohesion can be a challenge. Split finishes provide a purposeful solution. Pairing two artisan-applied finishes within one design unifies mixed metals and layered materials while maintaining balance. The effect is subtle yet impactful—introducing a touch of drama that elevates the vanity or shower area without overwhelming it.

“Split finishes allow us to celebrate contrast in a way that feels intentional,” says Jeff Silverstein, Head of Product & Brand at California Faucets. “By offering this rare level of finish customization, we’re giving designers a powerful tool for personalization—pairing two tones within a single form to deliver both visual impact and timeless sophistication.”

Several California Faucets collections lend themselves seamlessly to split-finish expression. The Jalama® Series pairs sculptural forms with a variety of tactile handle treatments, offering abundant opportunities for contrasting finishes. The San Elijo™ Series introduces the warmth of teak wood alongside artisan metal finishes, creating a layered, organic look that feels at home in spa-inspired interiors. And the Doheny™ Series, developed with designer Christopher Grubb, features distinctive geometric detailing that naturally highlights two-tone combinations.

Handcrafted in Huntington Beach and available in more than 25 artisan finishes, California Faucets’ split-finish options empower designers and homeowners to create baths that feel layered, expressive, and uniquely their own—spaces where every detail contributes to a cohesive and memorable experience.

About California Faucets

California Faucets transforms daily life through exceptional kitchen and bath products that embody authenticity, craftsmanship, and beauty. Established in 1988 in Huntington Beach, the company handcrafts each solid-brass piece with meticulous attention to detail, offering extensive customization. With more than 25 artisan-applied finishes, every faucet and fitting can be tailored to reflect an individual’s distinct taste and style. From award-winning bath collections that extend beyond faucets to include spa-like rain showers and elegant tub fillers, to Italian-inspired kitchen faucet collections, California Faucets products elevate everyday moments into refined experiences. Driven by a spirit of innovation, the company pushes industry boundaries to redefine what’s possible in kitchen and bath design. Notable advancements include ZeroDrain®, the industry’s first “pop-down” drain; StyleDrain®, the first truly decorative drain to enter the market; high-performance tub fillers engineered to fill in half the time; and StyleTherm®, thermostatic showers that deliver precise temperature and volume control. Through thoughtful design, superior materials, and an unwavering commitment to innovation, California Faucets ensures every product exceeds expectations—enriching the home as a sanctuary for daily rituals.
